Queen Betsy Thompson Reigns

Miss Betsy Thompson, senior vocational home economics major, was crowned the 1968 MSC Homecoming queen following the variety show Thursday night.

Sponsored by the Men's Dorm Council, Miss Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George O. Thompson Jr., Cainsville, participates in the following activities: Student Senate, Student Court, Union Board, High School Ambassador Program, Women's Residence Hall Council, Embers, Kappa Omicron Phi, Kappa Delta Pi, and AHEA.

Miss Thompson's credits also include being Religious Emphasis Week committee chairman, student body secretary-treasurer, Alpha Sigma Alpha sorority, freshman orientation leader, 1968 Best Dressed Co-ed, AWS-Embers scholarship recipient in 1966, AWS Daughter of the Year in 1968, Tower Queen contestant, UFC student chairman, J. W. Jones Scholarship recipient in 1968, and an honoree on the Dean's List.

Miss Thompson hopes to become a teacher or a fashion coordinator after graduation.

Construction to Start Soon on New IA Plant

In approximately 10 days, the construction of MSC's new Industrial Arts, Engineering and Technology Building will become operative.

Herbert and Brooner Construction Co., St. Joseph, was awarded the general contract building for the apparent general low base bid of $377,100 last Wednesday. The bids were received and evaluated at the monthly meeting of the Board of Regents of the college.

Other base bids for electrical and mechanical works boosted the construction costs on the bases of the low bids to $686,666. Schultz Electric Co., St. Joseph, presented the Regents with the low bid of $69,668 for electrical work; Industrial Heating and Plumbing Co., St. Joseph, $239,898 for mechanical work.

The general contract specifies that the building project must be completed 10 months from the date of the directive, according to Mr. Donald Valk, chairman of the department of industrial arts education and technology. Thus the date of occupancy, has been tentatively set for the 1969 fall semester.

Conducting the Board of Regents meeting was Mr. Garvin Williams, Maryville, president.

In other business before the Board, the following appointments were approved: Mrs. Norma Colter, matron in Martindale Gymnasium; Mrs. Roberta M. Scheel, matron in Perrin Hall; Mrs. Joyce Johnson, business office, to operate IBM 632 machine; Merlin Mercer, custodian in Lamkin Gymnasium; Arthur F. Stuart, campus crew, and Mrs. Carol O'Riley, clerk in the registrar's office.

Resignations were accepted from Durward Espey, custodian; David Hulett, painter; Dr. D. M. Cooper, professor and chairman of the department of physics; Mrs. Martha Cooper, office of the dean of administration, and Ken Jones, assistant to the dean of administration.

Students May Indicate Choices In Mock Election on Campus

Polls are open from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m. today at the entrance to the Union Bookstore for the Union Program Council-sponsored mock election.

Missouri, Iowa, and other students of any age may indicate their choices on the ballots prepared by the Union Board educational committee, chaired by Stan Wright and Patricia Bolin. The presidential, gubernatorial, and senatorial candidates from Missouri and Iowa and spaces for write-ins from other states are included on the ballots.

The Iowa and Missouri lists have Nixon and Agnew, Republicans; Humphrey and Muskie, Democrats, and Wallace and Marvin Griffin, American Independents, for president and vice president, respectively.

Ballots for students from other states have Gen. Curtis LeMay as vice presidential candidate on the American Independent party in place of Griffin, who was listed in Iowa and Missouri to meet the filing deadlines.

On the Missouri ballot, Thomas F. Eagleton, Dem.,

Guests Appreciate MSC Homecoming

The NWMSC Homecoming, with the theme of "Famous Motion Pictures," met wide approval from the thousands of spectators who jammed the parade route and participated in the Homecoming activities.

The Variety Show began the weekend activities and was presented before a sell-out crowd both nights. The well-rehearsed skits ran the gamut from a silent movie to "Ma and Pa Kettle" and on through a take-off on "Mame." Well-received inter-acts were supplied by Joe Motsinger, the Jazz Band, Melody Price and Connie Seuell, Jack Briggs, Wendee Beam and Maroo Smith.

An estimated 12,500 spectators braved a 42 degree temperature reading to watch a colorful, well co-ordinated parade Saturday morning. More than 112 entries, including 1,500 band members from 31 area high schools and the bands from Central Missouri State College and MSC participated in the event.

Over 9,000 fans attended the game Saturday afternoon in spite of the low temperature and rain. An excellent half-time show was presented by the Central Missouri State College marching band and the Bearcat Marching Band.

To climax the Homecoming activities, Frank Hubbell and the Stompers appeared Saturday evening for a dance in Lamkin Gymnasium. Winners were announced at intermission by Rollie Stadlman.

'I Protest' to Have Coffeehouse, Dance

"Bill and Carol," an exciting folk-song duo, and "The Benzene Ring," a versatile rock-soul combo, will entertain from 8 to 12 p. m. Friday and Saturday for the second "I Protest" happening.

Canadians Carol Iswacs, 22, and Bill Iveniuk, 26, comprise the "Bill and Carol" attraction. With electric guitar and bass and sensitive voices, they present a repertoire of English and American classic ballads, mountain music, blues, cowboy ballads, and French-Canadian material.

After providing back-up music for "Jay and the Citations" Oct. 12 in Lamkin Gymnasium, "The Benzene Ring" will get a well-deserved chance to perform on their own. Hard rock, soul, psychedelic, and rhythm and blues music and a stage show have resulted in much popularity in this area for this experienced group.

The two acts will alternate in one-hour sets between a coffeehouse and the dance floor in the Ballroom of the Student Union. Special décor, and espresso coffee will make the coffeehouse atmosphere complete in the east part of the ballroom while a large area will be reserved for dancing.

Ambassadors to Give Program on Campus

Student ambassadors from MSC who visited various parts of the world last summer on the Experiment in International Living, will present a special program at 4 p. m. Thursday in the Charles Johnson Theater.

Participating in the program will be Fred Beavers, speaking on Uruguay; Linda Sams, Chile; Bob Foster, Holland, and Pat Shradel and Mike Miller, Japan. The composite program will consist of picture slides of the countries and a panel discussion of the problems and situations the ambassadors encountered.

The announcement of the countries to be visited by this year's ambassadors will also be made at this program, which is open to the public.

Mike Miller will be chairman of the assembly with Mr. Don Hagan as faculty co-ordinator. Miss Mary Jackson is over-all chairman of the program this year.

Graduate Examination Scheduled for Dec. 14

The Graduate Record Examination will be given at MSC on Dec. 14. Students preparing for graduate school who want to take this exam should contact the Dean of Students.

If requested by students, the test can be given again on these 1969 national testing dates: Jan. 18, Feb. 22, Apr. 26, and July 12.

Price, Henderson, Wilson Detail How's and Why's of Student Rights

"Student Unrest on College Campuses" was the topic considered by a three-member panel at the Oct. 23 meeting of the AAUP Chapter.

Members of the panel were John Price, Mr. C. M. Henderson, and Mike Wilson. Dr. David Cargo, moderator, prefaced the panel discussion by stating that student rebellion has manifested itself in methods from squabbles over dress codes to full-fledged student takeover of entire universities.

Price, president of the Union Board, presented a general statement on the views of the "New Left" or "the student hang-up" views concerning the reasons for student dissatisfaction.

According to Price, the educational system is lacking in that the purposes for studying are superficial. Study is prompted by a wish to obtain certain grades or to obtain certain monetary benefits after graduation.

"Every college is plagued by crammings, stealing tests, cheating. . . . You feel the necessity to graduate. . . . It seems like the records become more important than the student. When this happens, there is an easy transition between things and people. We see this all over society — man is being dehumanized," Price said.

Although the students are partially at fault, it is the faculty's responsibility to stimulate students in thoughts and discussion, Price believes.

"We're expected to act as adults; yet we're not given adult responsibilities," Price stated. He added that many students do not want responsibility, but there are those who do want it and will "work for the betterment of society."

"Those who want to deal with the problems on this campus are in the minority," Price said. "Those in charge of the educational systems, in viewing the student body, too often take into consideration only the majority. Therefore, when responsibility is not given to those who would value it, there is a reaction."

In closing, Price said that students who take responsibilities in college should develop into the leaders of tomorrow.

Mr. Henderson, a social science instructor, examined the problem of student discontent in light of the AAUP's statement on the Student Bill of Rights.

Paternalism was one term used by Mr. Henderson, in referring to the student body's situation in this college community.

The educator went on to say that society has two sets of rules — those rules placed upon a person when he graduates from high school or "the rules at large," and those more restrictive rules placed on the "intellectual elite" in the college.

Student Recital Series To Start Wednesday

The first in a series of monthly student recitals will be Wednesday in the Charles Johnson Theater, according to Dr. John Smay.

Those participating this month include Comie Clark, Paula Florea, soprano; Sharon Lewis, Roscoe Porch, Vicki Gillespie, Kay Vulgamott, Wendee Beam, and Carolyn Hoffmann, piano, and David Perkins, saxophone.

Dear Editor:

It was with sheer amusement that I read the column written by Joe Fleming. It seems as though, according to Joe, our team needs a new coach, a new quarterback, along with a whole new team. Let's be realistic, Joe.

Coach Schottel has a fine career, coaching record, and also a very fine quarterback. The team's difficulty lies not here but in terms of inexperience and lack of a fast, strong halfback. The win-loss record is poor, but the team spirit is not. As an athlete I know how it is to try your hardest and lose. And as a good friend of many of the football players, I know that they are giving a 100 per cent effort. MSC students should watch the games more closely, and this will become evident.

Most Pollees Say:

'Homecoming Worth the Effort Despite Work, Disappointments'

Now that Homecoming is over and students are getting back to their regular school schedule some who actively participated are wondering if the time spent is worth the end result.

The following introduction and questions were asked of students selected at random in an effort to generalize their opinions on the value of Homecoming events:

It has become a tradition on the MSC campus that house decorations, skits, and the parade form the basis of Homecoming. All three of these require much time on the part of those participating, and at times the end results are ruffled feelings. Since the monetary rewards seldom outweigh the amount of money spent on the decorations, do you feel these special projects are necessary for a successful Homecoming? What are your suggestions for getting more people involved in Homecoming? What rewards do you think Homecoming offers?

Do you think that the good points of Homecoming outweigh the less desirable ones? Also, students were asked to check the events they attended: variety show, parade, game, and dance.

In reply to the question concerning monetary rewards, answers were given both pro and con. Most of the students agreed that the special projects are necessary for a successful Homecoming.

Randy Troutman pointed out that the house decorations, skits, and the parade are a tradition at all college homecomings. Frank Ray, junior, stated, "Without floats and decorations, Homecoming would seem a little less appealing."

Another student, however, called house decorations "a farce." She said, "The only people that see them are the ones who want to take the time to work or drive out to find them."

Most students who were questioned agree that more people should be involved in Homecoming, but pointed out that the opportunities are not made available. Kay Kerwin, freshman, suggested, "People want to feel needed, and when they do help they want to be encouraged and noticed. Those in charge of committees need only to ask people for their help and get them interested."

Others said that the monetary rewards are inadequate and more people would participate if they were greater. One senior girl, along with many other uninformed students, did not even realize that monetary prizes were included with the trophies.

Some of the pollees believe that a more lenient policy on homework should be enforced by the faculty during Homecoming week. By doing so, students would be relieved of the pressures of major tests and could exert more effort on Homecoming projects.

The majority of the students agreed that the good points of Homecoming far outweigh the less desirable ones. The individual achieves self-satisfaction and takes pride in his group's work, while organizations receive honor and prestige, several suggested.

Giving a different view, Larry Gustafson pointed out, "At the present about all one can expect is a trophy, maybe a small amount of money, but very little recognition after it is all over."

Others, however, took a warmer feeling about Homecoming. Dave Erickson said, "Each person who takes part in Homecoming preparation has gained something that books can never teach us. He has gained experience that will be valuable in the future. He perhaps also has had a taste of victory or learned to bounce back from defeat."

Agreeing with Erickson, Marie Smith emphasized, "Even if an organization doesn't win, the members still get the feeling of accomplishment. The whole student body should feel some sort of pride that the students are willing to work because they care that Homecoming is a success."

Although many of the attitudes toward Homecoming appear to be negative, it is evident by student attendance at Homecoming events, that the weekend is far too important to be eliminated.

As one freshman girl concluded, "On the whole, Homecoming is a memorable event that everyone likes to remember and look forward to the next year. It is one of the big events that really pulls the school together and creates spirit."

From the Editor's Mail

Dear Editor,

In the Oct. 29 edition of the Missourian there appeared a letter to the editor signed by a John Price. He condemned the political organizations on campus for (1) not voicing their candidates' opinion at the Open Forum and (2) not distributing leaflets or mimeographed sheets stating their candidates' views. Mr. Price was in a quandary as to whether or not the political parties were lazy, elitists, or non-backers of their candidates.

Now, I'll try to answer Mr. Price's so-called questions. First, let me say that the communications between the Student Union Board and the Republican Party is almost nil. Word of mouth communication is very unprofessional, and as far as the Open Forum is concerned, I can't visualize why that would even raise a question. The Open Forum gives individuals a chance to share their frustrations with others; nothing is accomplished, and no one is the wiser. Students have enough of their own problems without listening to someone else's problems.

Now, to get into the "nitty gritty." The Republican Party is not lazy or elite, and we do back Richard M. Nixon. If Mr. Price, being open-minded, would have taken the time to stop at the Republican booth at the Organizational Fair, he would have been greeted by a handshake and informed that the purpose for our having a booth was in order to re-organize.

The Republican Party had a re-organizational meeting four weeks ago, and if Mr. Price is not aware of what is entailed in reorganizing a club, I suggest he investigate or better yet, I'll try to enlighten him. The Constitution has to be re-evaluated and amendments drawn up where and if necessary. Next, election of club officers has to be held and rules have to be set down.

On top of trying to accomplish the above, Homecoming is upon us — float building. In our spare time, on Saturday mornings, the Republican Club has for the past three weeks been involved in poll taking for the Republican Club of Maryville and Nodaway County. On two other occasions, we have attended two fund raising rallies for our candidates — one for Jim Austin, who is running for Congress and the other for Larry Roos, the candidate for governor of the state of Missouri.

So, if Mr. Price still insists on referring to the Republican Club as being lazy, then I strongly suggest that he join the political party of his choice and lend his talents to the party.

Politically yours,
Charles A. Flanagan Jr.,
Collegiate Republican Club

Dear Editor:

I am a bit concerned about this idea of "apathy" that seems to be permeating the Northwest Missourian in the "Letters to the Editor." Doesn't the student body have anything else to write about besides apathy, apathy, apathy?

You have to admit it does get a little annoying reading about how apathetic people are all of the time. It makes a person wonder if he chose the right institution to attend. I suggest that if this college is as apathetic as some people say it is, don't let it get out or next year there will be a rapid decline in enrollment. On second thought, it might be better to spread the word. Then, we wouldn't have to worry about so many apathetic students with people always complaining about them.

I'm not denying the fact that apathy does exist because I myself can see that it does, but not in as large numbers as some people might think. No matter where you go, you are always going to find a certain amount of apathy. It is inevitable.

But I'm getting sick and tired of people getting hung-up on this term. Instead of always pointing out why students are apathetic, I suggest that they offer some tangible solutions as to how this so-called "apathy" can be relieved. Pious platitudes and conventional cliches aren't going to solve a thing. Action is needed, not words.

So, what do you say that we solve this business of apathy and make room in the school paper for something new and fresh? There is such a thing as running a subject into the ground.

Faculty Council Is Academic in Nature

The second article in the series of MSC committee explanations deals with the Faculty Council.

The Faculty Council consists of nine faculty members elected by the faculty, Dean Leon F. Miller, chairman, and Dean Charles H. Thate, secretary. The nine faculty representatives are the voting members of the council and are elected for a three-year tenure, with three being elected each year.

Most of the business handled by the group is academic in nature relating to course sequences, newly proposed majors or minors, general study requirements, changes of course credit, and any other changes in academic policy.

When items are presented to the Faculty Council, they are discussed, their implications and boundaries considered, and a vote taken. An affirmative vote by the council on any issue represents a recommendation of approval to the total faculty for referendum. A negative vote by the council kills the issue, and it does not come before the total faculty.

Normally, the Faculty Council has a liberal point of view and will send an issue on to the entire faculty for consideration, even though the consensus of the council is negative.

When a proposal is not clear or is an issue that the members would not deal with jurisdictionally, it will go back to the source.

CTA, AAUP Sponsor Meet With Candidates

All members of the faculty and administration were invited to a meeting with candidates for the Missouri General Assembly Wednesday in the Horace Mann Auditorium.

Incumbents, Mr. H. F. Holland and Mr. Harden Cox, and their opponents, Mr. Q. Goslee and Mr. John Callow, addressed the group and answered questions concerning their views about education at the meeting.

The Classroom Teachers Association and the AAUP Chapter sponsored the meeting.

Another function of the council is to make a final decision on proposed student organizations approved by the Student Senate. In recent years, only one group has been denied sanction.

The Faculty Council is also concerned with faculty welfare. This involves several aspects, an example being the sabbatical leave policy. Individual faculty members can bring these things to the council.

An example of an issue recently processed by the Faculty Council was the policy of releasing student grades at the end of the semester. Institutional policy determined by the faculty does not permit individual faculty members to release final grades to students at the end of the semester. This is to be done through the Registrar's office. This was initially passed by the faculty to avoid burdening conference sessions with students during the hectic examination period.

Some faculty members do not agree with the grade-release policy and have submitted a recommendation to the Faculty Council to rescind it. The council has approved this recommendation and the issue will soon come before the total faculty for a decision.

The Faculty Council also serves the college community in an advisory position.

Faculty members now serving on the council are: Elected to serve through 1969, Mr. Frederic Handke, Mr. Donald Robertson, Mr. Calvin Widger; 1970, Dr. Edward Farquhar, Dr. Bill Scott, Mrs. Dorothy Walker; 1971, Dr. Peter Jackson, Miss Kathryn McKee, Dr. Richard Quinn.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Readers may want to clip this article for future reference.

Student Teaching Change

The first student-teaching block will end Nov. 8, and the second block will begin Nov. 11 according to Dr. Charles Thate, dean of administration.

Chairman Houghton Announces Winning Livestock Judges

Winners in the Annual Agriculture Club Livestock and Dairy Judging Contest, held Oct. 26, on the MSC campus, have been announced by Mr. F. B. Houghton, chairman.

Braymer High School was high point team in the FFA livestock division. Members of that team were Ronnie McBee, Steve McBee, and John McBee. The Andrew County 4-H team, consisting of Gary Bauman, Steve Moser, and Ronald Ketchum, was high point in the 4-H livestock division.

The MSC team of Mike Loftin, David Miller, and Richard Spiegel, coached by Mr. Houghton, was high point in the college division. All teams in the livestock judging division evaluated classes in beef cattle, hogs, and sheep.

In the dairy division the FFA team from the Creston, Iowa, chapter, composed of Gary Harrisook, Randy Miller, and David Johnson, received top honors. The Nodaway County 4-H team, composed of Dave Blackford, Brenda Blanchard, and Mark Wiley, won their division.

The winning college dairy team, coached by Dr. Dennis Padgett, consisted of Alan Peterson, Gary Mann, and Elvin Andrews, MSC students.

Five classes of dairy cattle were judged in the dairy division and two sets of oral reasons were required for those teams competing for trophies.

Awards to high teams and individuals in both livestock and dairy divisions were furnished by the Maryville Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Vilas Young, chairman of the agriculture committee, made the presentations at the awards assembly Saturday evening. The Midcontinent Farmers Association of Columbia represented by Hubert Gumm, local manager, was host to contestants, coaches, and officials at the noon luncheon in the Union.

Richard Dean Heads Psychology Club

Richard Dean was elected to head the Psychology Club this year at its recent organizational meeting in the Union.

Other officers elected were Barb Wempe, vice president; Roberta Cobb, secretary-treasurer; Rick Dupey, publicity chairman, and Pete Richardson, program chairman.

The club discussed a proposed field trip to the Menninger Foundation. Janet Brenneman was appointed to head the committee to organize plans for the trip.

Sponsors of the organization this year are Mr. Wayne Van Zomeren, Mr. Melven Blades, and Mr. Gus Reischer.

The club's next meeting is scheduled for Nov. 6.

The next meeting will be at 7 p. m. Wednesday in Colden Hall. New departmental equipment will be shown and demonstrations will be given.

Persons interested in membership in the Psychology Club should attend this meeting or contact Richard Dean.

'Born Yesterday' on Planning Board

In discussion of their coming production are James Madison, stage director, who is a senior biology major; Mrs. Robert Blackman, assistant director, and Miss Janis Duley, the director. They are members of the Nodaway County Theater, whose production of "Born Yesterday" will run Nov. 14, 15, and 16 at the American Legion Hall.

Sigma Sigma Sigmas Duplicate Win Record

For the second consecutive year Sigma Sigma Sigma social sorority won a first place ranking in each of three major areas of Homecoming competition — house decorations, skit, and beauty float.

Other first place winners were as follows: House decorations, Franken Hall, open division, and Alpha Kappa Lambda, fraternity section; skit, Wesley Foundation, open division, and Phi Sigma Epsilon, fraternity division; beauty floats, industrial arts; open division, and Sigma Tau Gamma, fraternities.

In the high school band competition, Maryville High won overall and Class M for Missouri band top honors; Mount Ayr won overall honors and Class M title, Iowa bands. Class S band winners were Grant City, Missouri division;

Clearfield, Iowa division.

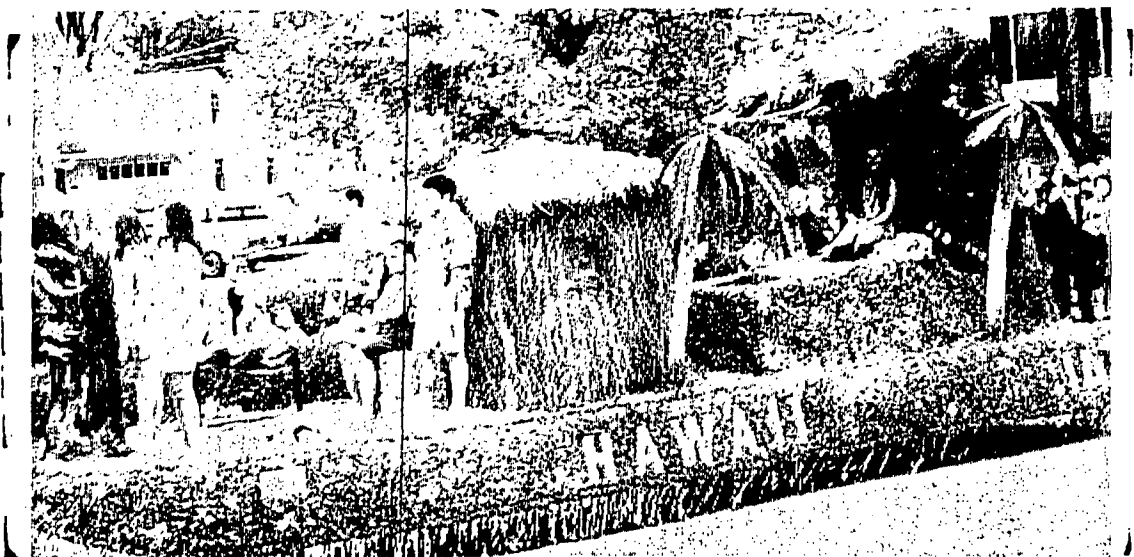

"A big thanks goes to every one who helped make Homecoming a success," said Dr. Harlan Higginbotham, overall chairman, in expressing his appreciation for the excellent cooperation which the Homecoming committee received. "The work of the individual students, organizations, and college staff was invaluable."

Special thanks, Dr. Higginbotham said, have been extended to Mr. Dean Savage, chairman of arrangements for the judging; which was all done by out-of-town judges; Mr. Robert West, chairman of the variety show; Miss Norma Lovelace, chairman of the queen contest; Cheri Jordan and Robert Brunner, student co-chairmen of Homecoming, and to all sub-committee chairmen.

THE STROLLER

Last week the Stroller observed many pledges campaigning for their favorite queen candidate by carrying signs around campus. One coed literally had a hang up about the thing when she got her "sandwich sign" caught on the fence by the Student Union.

Classic Den Flicks Provide Contrast

Den movies for the coming weekend feature screen adaptations of literary classics: a Dickens' Victorian English work and another centering in ancient Rome will provide contrasting themes for contrasting viewer tastes.

"Spartacus," to be shown at 7 p. m. Friday in the Administration Building, vividly recreates the best-selling novel by adding an intangible "something." The "something" is no doubt aided, in the screen translation, by the performances of its leading actors: Kirk Douglas, Sir Lawrence Olivier, Miss Jean Simmons, Charles Laughton, and Tony Curtis.

"Oliver Twist," the second attraction of the weekend, will feature Sir Alec Guinness, Anthony Newley, and Robert Newton in a cinema presentation of Dickens' classic. The movie, acclaimed by the New York Times as "one of the finest screen translations of a literary classic ever made," will be presented in the Administration Building at 7 p. m. Saturday.

The Stroller extends his compliments to the Veterans Club and president Gary Caven, on their attractive booklet featuring memorable events of this year's Homecoming.

The Democrats may have lost a vote from Phillips Hall recently. An avid Democratic fan had campaign posters of all sizes on his wall.

Insecurely fastened, however, they all fell down about four o'clock in the morning, waking the Democrat and his roommate, who is now debating whether that early morning fall could cancel the vote.

The Stroller has noted that several new girls on campus are not officially coeds. This is an example of people (boys, too) waiting until the last minute.

Surely this ceremony can't be dreaded that much. The bridge will always be there, but chances of being a full-fledged coed will be gone after the first snow.

Daylight saving time struck its final blow here, when an English instructor entered a room early and started to write a test on the blackboard. The room began to buzz.

She turned around in amazement to face a strange class. The relieved class watched the embarrassed instructor leave the room to sit it out for another hour. (And they say students should be more conscious of the time!)

Hudson Hall coeds, Linda and Esther, were considered "lucky" by some when their recent double birthday party was climaxed by their being thrown into the shower. "How high's the water, girls?" wonders the stroller.

Young Democrats Go to State Meet

Representing NWMSC, nine members of the College Young Democrat Club attended the Missouri State Convention of College Young Democrats at Columbia Oct. 24, 25.

These delegates included Kathi Ebbrecht, John Phoenix, Sharon Schiller, Jane Mobley, Jean Napiecek, John Ridings, Marsha George, Khrys Morris, and Mickey Fairman.

The convention, held at the University of Missouri, had three basic functions: (1) the re-election of state officers, (2) the revamping of the State constitution, and (3) the proposal and passing of nine new resolutions.

A New Politics Seminar was featured with emphasis placed upon revitalizing honesty and good will through governmental officials at the recent Missouri Young Democrats' meeting.

Previewing of Missouri Intercollegiate State Legislature, Inc., "MISL Prospectus," introduced many newcomers to the purposes and ideals put forth by MISL.

An uncompromising vote in the election of officers resulted in an amended constitution and the first initiation of two co-chairmen for the MYD's. They are Brian Hannigan, SLU, and Gene Pinckleman, UMKC.

Films About Germany To Be Shown Here

An interesting color film on the exciting sport of gliding will be shown at 7:30 p. m. tonight in the Wells Library Theater.

The movie, narrated in German, displays excellent photography of the scenic German mountain ranges and breathtaking countryside, according to Mr. Charles Slattery, who has made arrangements for the show.

All students and faculty are invited to attend this, the first of a series of German-English language films made available by the German consulate, Kansas City.

Monterrey Dean Visits MSC On Tour of U. S. Colleges

Miss Mary Jackson, professor of Spanish; Dr. Robert P. Foster, president of MSC; and Mr. Francisco Mancillas, Dean of the Monterrey Tec Summer School, visiting together and look over the 1968 Tower.

A touch of Mexican culture was in the air briefly last week as NWMSC was host to Mr. Francisco Mancillas, dean of the Monterrey Technical summer school.

Each summer, students from many areas of the United States enroll in Monterrey's special summer session to attend courses on the Mexican language and culture. MSC has sent students to the institute for the past three summers.

MSC served as the first stop on Mr. Mancillas' six-state goodwill promotional tour of U. S. college campuses. Wednesday, Mr. Mancillas talked with college officials about the Monterrey summer program.

Students from this college who attended the institute last summer will present a special program at 4 p. m. Monday, Room 201 in Colden Hall, for the benefit of those students who might be interested in the program for next summer.

Participating in the special assembly will be Dotty Wilson, Dana Winn, and Dick Schilling. The group will show slides and discuss the school.

Anyone interested in the program who desires further details should contact Miss Mary Jackson, Room 205 in Colden Hall.

Students Review Via Video Tape

Speech 51 students tried a new system to review for their mid-term examinations last week.

Highlights from the first half of this semester's lectures were played back on a specially prepared video tape for students. Major presentations were given by five speech instructors with the help of the Instructional Materials Bureau.

The 50-minute tape could be viewed at any of the 17 designated times in the audiovisual classroom. According to Mr. Luke Boone, director of IMB, it was the most ambitious program of this type used on the MSC campus in terms of scope, time, and various aspects of production.

Forensic Students Receive Recognition Awards at Omaha

Several MSC forensic students received commendable ratings in competition at the University of Nebraska, Omaha, the last weekend in October.

Competition was in varsity and novice debate, group discussion, and impromptu and oratorical speaking. Representatives of 55 colleges from 10 states and Canada participated.

James Leu, sophomore, Mt. Pleasant, Iowa, received the second place trophy in impromptu speaking. In two preliminary rounds he compiled 191 out of 200 possible points. David Dills, Perry, Iowa, completed a single round of impromptu speaking with 24 out of 25 possible points.

The discussion team finished sixth. In the two rounds, Leu and James Oliver, sophomore, Guilford, earned 44 and 40 points, respectively, out of a possible 50. Linda Sorenson, junior, Des Moines, and Jerry Sisson, junior, Maryville, each earned 38 points.

Mary Jo Buster, freshman, Parkville, received excellent honors in the field of oratory. The varsity debate team, consisting of Victor Jenkins, sophomore, Ridgeway; Oliver, Connie Dillion, freshman, Lee's Summit, and Elizabeth Walkings, freshman, Liberty, won three out of six debates.

James Leu

The novice team of Miss Sorenson, Leu, Sisson, and Dills also won three out of six debates.

Women's Club Cites Jonnelle Schrier

Jonnelle Schrier, senior vocational home economics major, has been chosen as the honored coed of the month by Embers, honorary senior women's organization.

Miss Schrier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John K. Schrier, Maryville, commented that she chose home economics as a major because "Mother's attitude toward homemaking has been a tremendous influence." The honoree believes that vocational home economics will help "build a stronger family unit, help hold the family together, and bring into our society children capable of accepting and working amid the demands and pressures of the future."

"Homemaking as a career will help me develop a better understanding of economics and financial management. I believe it will help me to become a better developed individual through my associations and experiences with various persons."

Jonnelle Schrier

Miss Schrier, a 1965 graduate of Maryville R-II High School, is recording secretary of Sigma Sigma Sigma social sorority. She is a member of the American Home Economics Association, was second runner-up in the Best Dressed Coed Contest of 1967, and second runner-up in the Miss Maryville Pageant both in 1966 and in 1968.

Miss Schrier's outside activities include membership in the First Presbyterian Church and Chapter L, PEO. She also enjoys playing the piano, cooking, horseback riding, and 4-H work.

The Embers honoree plans to do student teaching in Richmond during the second block of this semester.

MSC Receives Accreditation Of Teacher Training Program

Dr. Robert P. Foster, MSC president, has been informed by the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education that MSC has earned full accreditation for programs to prepare elementary and secondary teachers at the bachelor's degree level.

The approval for full accreditation was made at the Council's meeting in October and arrived at for the ensuing decade.

'Funny Girl' Coming For Single-Night Run

"Funny Girl," one of the biggest all-time Broadway musical hits, will make its only professional appearance in this area Nov. 15 in Lamkin Gymnasium.

This highly acclaimed production stars Carmen Natiku as the memorable Zeigfeld Follies girl, Fannie Brice, a role made famous by Barbra Streisand. The musical, bringing to life the story of "Funny Girl," traces her career from a young teenager, filled with glowing hope and burning desire for a stage career to a heartbroken star, who resolves to pick up the shattered pieces of her life after an unsuccessful marriage to Nicky Arnstein, a flamboyant gambler of the era, who is sent to prison for embezzlement.

Fanny Brice was a friendly human being who had a God-given talent for making people laugh and forget their inhibitions. Her ability to make people feel at ease was perhaps best exemplified at a party attended by the present Duke of Windsor. She broke the ice with: "Hey, Princey, you want some blintzes?"

The musical is still riding the crest of popularity started in 1964 when Miss Streisand and the original cast made the show an immediate success on Broadway. It has been well received wherever it has played, both in this country and abroad.

The production, under the capable direction of Michael Mann, in 16 scenes re-creates the snapping and flashing color that belongs to the Zeigfeld era. The lyrical composing team of Jule Styne and Robert Merrill brings back the jubilant, naughty spirit of that bygone day with their award winning score of 17 songs, which include the moving lyrics of "People," the humorously defiant "Rain on My Parade," the blues number "Who Are You Now?" and the Zeigfeld production songs "His Love Makes Me Beautiful" and "Rat-Tat-Tat-Tat."

The production is being brought to this campus through arrangements made by the Performing Arts Committee, headed by Dr. Robert Govier. It may be enjoyed by all students at no cost.

'Beanstalk' Production Lead Roles Assigned

Scott Parman, Pam Kingsley, Donald Morris, and Neeta Day have been selected for the lead roles in the upcoming production of Charlotte Chorprenning's "Jack and the Beanstalk."

Students completing the cast are Sig Bonebrake, Diana Jansen, John Hindal, Barbara Wempe, Eva Shepherd, Dennis Bowman, Charles Saunders, Janet Landers, Jack Estes, Loring Miller, and Don Jackson.

Mr. Robert West, assistant professor of speech and drama, will direct this children's theater production to be presented Dec. 12-14 in the Administration Building auditorium.

Home Economists Attend State Meet

Seven home economics students, accompanied by Miss Patricia Mitch, attended the Oct. 25 Fall Workshop for officers of college chapters of the American Home Economics Association.

Students making the trip to the University of Missouri campus were Linda Crowder, Ann Drewes, Betty Bender, Sheryl Lowrance, Kristen Andrew, Barbara Parsons, and Betty Allen.

Price, Henderson

standard which is not placed on the high school graduate be imposed on an intellectual?" Mr. Henderson asked.

The professor explained the actions taken by the AAUP on student rights. In the early 1960's the AAUP published a bill of rights. A draft committee was called by the AAUP to Washington in June, 1967, to compile a "realizable" set of rules for students. Numerous influential student, faculty, and administrative groups attended the meeting.

In the preamble of the resulting draft, a definition of the academic institution and reasons for its existence are stated.

The reasons for the institution's existence are said to be "for the transmission of knowledge, the pursuit of truth, the development of students, and the general well-being of society."

The AAUP states that no impediment should be placed between the student and the realization of these purposes of an institution of higher education.

Respecting the confidences of students is important to Mr. Henderson. He said that this idea is sometimes taken too lightly. "When a student talks to me, that information is privileged. I am not permitted to talk to my colleagues about what some student has told me or what he has said. I must respect him."

"The tendency to want to include counseling matters or disciplinary matters in transcripts — that's a horror!" Academic records should be kept separate from counseling, psychological, or disciplinary records, the social science professor said.

Wilson, student body president, concluded the panel addresses with a discussion of the legal aspects of student rights.

Citing the judicial standards set up by the Western District Court of Missouri, the student leader pointed out three minimal requirements which apply to cases of severe student discipline.

First, the student should be given adequate notice in writing of the specific ground or grounds and the nature of the evidence on which the disciplinary proceedings are based.

Second, the student should be given an opportunity for a hearing in which the disciplinary authority provides a fair opportunity for hearing of the student's position, explanations and evidence.

The third requirement is that no disciplinary action be taken on grounds which are not supported by any substantial evidence.

Wilson then related the above standards to a few of the procedures adopted by the national AAUP in student discipline actions.

These procedures included the establishment of a hearing committee which consists of faculty members and students. They require the submission to the student of a written explanation of the reasons for the proposed disciplinary action in sufficient time to insure opportunity to prepare for the hearing. Also assured are the right of the student to be assisted in his defense by an adviser of his choice, with the burden of proof to rest upon the officials bringing the charge; and the right of the student to testify and to present evidence and witnesses. The decision of the hearing committee should be final, subject only to the student's right of appeal to the president or ultimately to the governing board of the institution.

The Student - Faculty Disciplinary Committee was singled out by Wilson as an example of one of the ways in which MSC has met student rights. The committee consists of eight faculty members and five student members, with one non-voting chairman who is on the faculty.

'Cats to Test 'Golden Horde'

The Miners from the University of Missouri at Rolla, led by a defense known as the "Golden Horde," will provide the next test for the MSC Bearcats Saturday at Rolla, in the fourth MIAA conference game for both teams.

The Miners' record, which now stands at 0-2 in conference play and 2-4 overall, is deceiving in that they have shown to be a vastly improved ball club over last year's squad, which posted a 3-6 mark.

After nearly upsetting Central Missouri State in its conference debut, losing 14-7, the Miners started strongly against Cape Girardeau, taking an early 7-0 lead, before bowing to the MIAA champs, 31-13.

The "Horde" secondary, which has intercepted 13 passes for 226 yards will be sparked by Ed Lane, who has picked off six passes for 102 yards.

Up front on defense, Rolla employs a five-man line, led by seniors Larry Carpenter and noseman Kent Florence. The two tackles are Leonard Stout, an all-league candidate, and sophomore Darrell McAlister.

The bulk of the Miners' offensive punch will be provided by Cecil Taylor and Bob Nicodemus. Of the 589 team net yards rushing, Taylor has accounted for 338 yards on 83 attempts, and Nicodemus has carried 77 times for 232 yards.

In the passing department, Rolla is fortunate to have three quarterbacks of almost equal ability. Ron Miller has completed 14 of 50 passes for 245 yards, a 17.5 average. Jack Grove has thrown 43 times, completing 18 for 195 yards, a 10.8-average. Pat Godwin's record is 10 for 23 and 104 yards. All three will probably get into the action.

Employing a newly found aerial attack and a stingy defense, the Miners will be attempting to avenge last year's 36-18 defeat at the hands of the 'Cats.

Quarterback Club Donates $39,000 In Scholarships

More than $39,000 has been donated to Northwest Missouri State College by the Quarterback Scholarship Club during its 10-year history.

The fund drive for 1968 totaled $4,590, only $410 short of the $5,000 goal. The result of this year's drive was the highest in the club's history. The previous high was in 1967, when $4,525 was collected.

The funds were turned over to the MSC president, Dr. R. P. Foster, by Mr. Paul Fields, chairman of the club.

Local merchants organized the MSC Quarterback Club Scholarship fund drive in 1958 to aid deserving MSC athletes. Since then contributions have risen each year to the record high of 1968. Club membership entitles card holders to free admission to all MSC home athletic events.

The undefeated Central Missouri State Mules spoiled the Northwest Missouri State's Homecoming Saturday by downing the Bearcats, 28-7.

The loss dropped the 'Cats record to 0-7, while Warrensburg, 6-0-1, retained a share of the MIAA lead with Cape Girardeau, both 3-0 in the conference.

Competing before a wet and chilled standing-room only crowd of 9,000, the 'Cats and Mules battled scorelessly until late in the second quarter. The Mules' offensive unit drove 57 yards in nine plays, with John Mack scoring from the seven, three minutes before the half. Shortly after, the Warrensburg squad returned a Bearcat punt to the 45-yard line and three plays later scored on a 26-yard Steve Eckinger-to-Dennis Covey pass with only 24 seconds remaining in the half.

The 'Cats narrowed the margin to seven in the third quarter on a 38-yard Joe Caba pass that was deflected into the hands of Dave Hanson.

CMS scored two quick tallies in the fourth quarter on a 49-yard pass from quarterback Eckinger to Clark Frost, and on a 10-yard interception run-back by Herb Robinson.

NE State Captures MIAA Harrier Crown

The Bearcat cross-country team placed fifth in the MIAA conference meet Saturday at the Rolla golf course.

Northeast Missouri State won the contest with 51 points, (low score wins), as Pat Sullivan and Keith Allen captured second and fourth place, respectively.

Southwest Missouri State placed second with 56 team-points on the merits of Doug Overholser who completed the run in 20 minutes, 57.4 seconds to take the championship.

Central Missouri State finished third with 60 points; Southeast Missouri, fourth with 64 points; Northwest Missouri, fifth 108 points; Rolla, sixth, 135.

Dave Rebori (14) and Joe Presti (25) drag down a Warrensburg Mule in Homecoming football action.

Wayne Woolsey and Dave Rebori were chosen outstanding players of the week by Coach Ivan Schottel, following the Oct. 26 MSC-SWMS football game.

Woolsey, junior fullback

Dave Rebori

Bears' line for yardage gains many times when there appeared to be no hole to run through.

Coach Schottel, in commenting on Woolsey's play, said, "Wayne continually gave us the extra effort which would give us that big play. He also caught a big nine-yard pass with five seconds left in the first half which gave us a 13-13 tie with Springfield at the half."

Rebori, junior linebacker from Kansas City, was cited as the leading defensive player in the game. "Dave did a terrific job on his pass coverage and made many key tackles which stopped some big plays," the grid mentor said.

Coach Schottel also commended the play of offensive linemen Lewis Bailey, Tony Novak, and Kent Sorenson; running backs Gene Wilson and

Wayne Woolsey

Gary Hawkins; quarterback Steve Schottel, and the defensive play of Roger Shupe.

Bearcat Runners Place Second In Area Marathon

Four MSC cross-country runners gained national recognition for MSC Oct. 20, by taking second place in the annual Falls City, Neb., Marathon.

The run covered 26 miles, 385 yds. through three states. Beginning in White Cloud, Kan., the runners crossed into Missouri over the Rulo Bridge and finished the race at Falls City.

The Tri-State marathon, sponsored by the AAU, began at 8 a. m., Oct. 20, and included 30 participants from Nebraska University, Kansas University, and various other Iowa schools. Nebraska won the top number of team points to capture the championship, with MSC second and KU third.

The winning time of 2 hours and 30 minutes, a course record, was posted by a South Dakota harrier.

Lynnard Phipps, a junior competing in his fifth marathon, and freshman Danny Baird, both 'Cat CC standouts, led the Maryville entries by tying for 15th place with times of 3 hours and 6 minutes.

"Rocky" Reed, a senior and another veteran cross-country ace, placed 21st with a time of 3 hours and 41 minutes.

Freshman Al Winstrom, bothered by ankle trouble, and forced to slow down occasionally, finished with a time of 4 hours and 50 minutes to take 25th place.
